TERMS OF SALE

Please read carefully, as there are changes in our terms which affect all buyers.

1. All lots are offered for mail or telephone bids only. In instances where bids are submitted by phone written confirmation is required. Bid sheets must be received no later than Thursday, December 14, 1989. Submission of a bid sheet constitutes acceptance of the terms of sale stated below.

2. Lots will be awarded to the highest bidder. Bids should be submitted in EVEN U.S. DOLLAR AMOUNTS and will be compared with all other bids on the same lot following the close of the sale. For your protection, where the highest bid exceeds the underbid by more than 10%, the lot will be awarded to the highest bidder at a figure approximately 10 % above the second highest bid. In the case of identical bids, that which is received first has preference, so it is in your interest to submit your bids early. Bids must be for whole lots only, as no lots will be divided by the auctioneer.

3. All individual coin lots in this catalogue are unconditionally guaranteed to be genuine and as described. Claims to the contrary must be made in writing to Numismatic Fine Arts International within five (5) days after receipt of the goods. The parties would then agree to submit any claims (except for non-payment for items purchased) to binding arbitration under the rules of the American Arbitration Association then in effect. Judgement may thereupon be entered on any award in any court of competent jurisdiction. THIS BEING A MAIL BID SALE, ALL MULTIPLE COIN LOTS ARE SOLD AS IS AND MAY NOT BE RETURNED FOR ANY REASON.

4. Grading, which is subjective, and other adjectival descriptions are the opinion of the cataloguer, and no warranty is expressed or implied, since they can and do vary among experts.

5. Bids cannot be accepted from those under eighteen (18) years of age without the written consent of parents guaranteeing payment. Bids made on behalf of corporations must be personally guaranteed by one or more of the principals.

6. A BUYER'S PREMIUM OF 10% ON EACH LOT WILL BE ADDED TO THE PURCHASE PRICE AND INCLUDED ON ALL INVOICES.

7. All sales are strictly for cash in United States dollars, drawn on a United States bank. Lots purchased and delivered in the state of California are subject to a 6.5% sales tax excepting total purchases at or exceeding $1000 (before buyer's premium) for which no sales tax will be charged.

8. Shipping is at the expense and risk of the buyer.
   FOR COIN PURCHASES:Handling, insurance and registration charges will be added to invoices for lots to be delivered by mail.
   FOR OVERSEAS LITERATURE PURCHASES: All literature purchases outside the U.S. will receive a pro forma invoice listing various shipping options (i.e., U.P.S., Surface or Air Mail). Books will be mailed only upon receipt of payment and confirmation of shipping preference.

9. Payment must be made promptly and is due on receipt of invoice. Any lot not paid within thirty (30) days of the auction closing date will be subject to a service and collection charge of 1.5% per month (18% per annum). Title does not pass until lots are paid in full. Numismatic Fine Arts International reserves the right to maintain possession of all lots and to require full payment before delivery is made. The buyer is responsible for attorney and other judicial fees and expenses involved in collection of any overdue debt.

10. Bidders unknown to us must establish references prior to the auction and must deposit 25% of the bids submitted. This deposit will be applied to successful bids, with overage refunded and any difference billed.

11. It is the responsibility of the buyer to comply with foreign "customs" or other regulations. We decline all responsibility for any consequences arising from contravention of such regulations. Errors in bidding are the sole responsibility of the bidder, and we strongly suggest that bid sheets be carefully checked before submission.

12. The prices on the enclosed sheet are estimates based on recent international market prices. THE AUCTIONEER RESERVES THE RIGHT TO REFUSE ANY BIDS BELOW 60% OF THE PUBLISHED ESTIMATES.

13. BIDDING IN THIS AUCTION CONSTITUTES FULL ACCEPTANCE BY THE BIDDER OF THE FOREGOING TERMS OF SALE.

PAUL STADLER SZEGO
July 17, 1889–December 24, 1960

Paul Stadler Szego received his Ph.D. in history, with emphasis on classical antiquities, from the University of Budapest. A respected member of the international numismatic community, he was an accomplished writer on Hellenistic and Roman art and culture, especially as reflected in the coinage of these civilizations. Dr. Szego was also a talented creative artist who was thoroughly conversant with the characteristics of the work of many of the individual artist-engravers. His scholarly writings in numismatics deal in part with analyses of art styles in Greek coinage, including a detailed study of two centuries of the Athenian with emphasis on the more archaic forms.

Dr. Szego assembled over many decades an outstanding collection of classical coins, mostly Greek and Roman, in sequential series, both historic-chronologic and artistic-developmental. The collection ranged from the electrum issues of the Asiatic Greeks of 700–650 B.C. through the true coinage of the Greek city-states. It encompassed examples of the transitional coinage from Greek prototypes to the early Hellenistic style of the first Roman specimens, through the gamut of the Roman Republic, and ultimately, the Empire. Many of these coins are represented in the current offering.

THE "ASYUT" HOARD

This important hoard was unearthed twenty years ago by Egyptian workmen. The precise site of the find remains uncertain, but it appears to have been in the vicinity of the town of Asyut (ancient Lykopolis) about 200 miles south of Cairo.

The three finders divided the hoard into equal lots of approximately 300 coins each, and two of these lots were sold to a dealer who passed most of them on to a European buyer. The third finder sold his coins individually. Thanks to a high level of international cooperation between dealers, collectors and scholars it was possible to trace and record about 97% of the original find.

A hoard of this magnitude, concealed about 475 B.C. and containing a wide variety of archaic issues, is of the very greatest importance in determining the chronology of the earliest phases of Greek silver coinage. The research and publication were undertaken by Dr. Martin Price of the British Museum and the late Dr. Nancy Waggoner of the American Numismatic Society; the result was Archaic Greek Silver Coinage—The "Asyut" Hoard (London, 1975) in which 873 coins are described and many of them illustrated.

We are fortunate to be able to offer here a selection of 30 pieces from the "Asyut" hoard, the most important find of archaic Greek silver coins yet discovered.

THRACO-MACEDONIAN TRIBES

271. The Derrones, c. 500–480 B.C., silver decadrachm (34.21 gm). Two bulls l., drawing cart, traces of legend ΔEPPONIKON above/Quadripartite incuse square. Asyut 34, this coin. Cf. Svoronos L'hellénisme primitif de la Macédoine, pl. I, 6–7.
Very rare. Surface flaw before bulls' heads. Deep test cut on obverse. Otherwise fine (1500.00)

272. Uncertain tribe, late 6th cent. B.C., silver didrachm (fragment, 5.80 gm). Four roses (only two visible) attached to central rosette, forepart of boar l. above/Incuse square with irregular field. Ex Asyut hoard, but not published by Price and Waggoner (cf. #45 for a similar piece, also incomplete).
This coin was cut in Antiquity, a common phenomenon with Egyptian hoards, and the surviving fragment accounts for about two-thirds of the original weight.
Very rare and interesting. Very fine (200.00)

273. Uncertain tribe, c. 510–480 B.C., silver tetradrachm (14.50 gm). Pegasus stg. l., three pellets in field/Quadripartite incuse square. Asyut 50, this coin. Cf. BMC (Macedon) p. 137, 4.
Rare. Test cut on obverse. Otherwise very fine (1650.00)

This type is often attributed to the city of Thermae (later Thessalonica), but its weight standard is rather that of a tribal issue.

274. The Orescii(?), c. 490–480/75 B.C., silver stater (9.66 gm). Centaur kneeling r., carrying in his arms a struggling nymph, [crescent] in l. field/Quadripartite incuse square. Asyut 96, this coin.

THRACIAN ISLANDS

275. Samothrace(?), c. 500–480 B.C., silver hemidrachm (2.18 gm). Sphinx seated l./Quadripartite incuse, alternate quarters more deeply sunk. Asyut 61, this coin. Overstruck, with the undertype probably an animal forepart.
Very rare. Very fine (525.00)

The distinctive reverse pattern is associated with the Thracian Chersonesus, which lay not far from the island of Samothrace. Small coins with the sphinx type, but with a more conventional incuse pattern, have been attributed to Samothrace (see W. Schwabacher, "Ein Fund archaischen Münzen von Samothrake," Transactions of the International Numismatic Congress (London, 1936), pp. 109–120.

276. "Thasos," c. 510–480 B.C., silver stater (9.44 gm). Naked satyr in kneeling-running attitude r., carrying in his arms a struggling nymph/Quadripartite incuse square of indistinct form. Asyut 113, this coin.

Very rare. Test cut on obverse not affecting the type. Otherwise fine plus/fine (900.00)

278. —, silver octadrachm (30.31 gm). As previous, but with XP (?) instead of M on obv. Asyut 141, this coin (but weight incorrectly given as 29.85 gm). Cf. May 48.
Very rare. Test cut on obverse. Otherwise very fine (1250.00)

MACEDONIAN CITIES

279. Acanthus, c. 510–480 B.C., silver tetradrachm (16.92 gm). Bull kneeling l., attacked by lion r. on his back, dotted exergual band below which floral ornament between two pellets/Quadripartite incuse square. Asyut 186, this coin. Desneux 31. Test cut on reverse. Otherwise about extremely fine (1500.00)

280. Mende, c. 500–480 B.C., silver tetradrachm (17.09 gm). Ithyphallic ass stg. r., crow perched r. on his back, M[INΔ] (retrograde) before/Five incuse triangles arranged in "mill-sail" pattern. Asyut 206, this coin.
Test cut on obverse. Weak striking, otherwise very fine plus (1000.00)

281. Terone, c. 490–480 B.C., silver tetradrachm (17.25 gm). Amphora ornamented with three bunches of grapes/Quadripartite incuse square. Asyut 225, this coin. Kraay (NC 1954) 7.
Very rare. Test cut on obverse. Otherwise about extremely fine (1250.00)

BOEOTIA

282. Tanagra(?), c. 510–480 B.C., silver drachm (6.08 gm). Boeotian shield, traces of letters in the side-openings/Incuse square divided into eight triangular compartments, alternately raised and depressed. Asyut 246, this coin.
Very fine (600.00)

EUBOEA

An item of great rarity and beauty. Very fine* (15,000.00)

The hoard evidence suggests that the civic coinage of Amphipolis survived for several years after the city's capture by Philip of Macedon late in 357 B.C. This tetradrachm belongs to the first complete issue to be designed and minted under the new circumstances. Philip's influence is perhaps apparent in the form of the legend, which had formerly been expressed in the Ionic dialect (ΑΜΦΙΠΟΛΙΤΕΩΝ) but now employs the Attic (ΑΜΦΙΠΟΛΙΤΩΝ). The traditional types of the coinage, however, are retained. The three quarter head of Apollo on the obverse honors the patron of colonists, whose oracle at Delphi had authorized the foundation of Amphipolis as an Athenian colony in 437 B.C. The race torch on the reverse has agonistic symbolism, alluding perhaps to torch races held in honor of Artemis Tauropolos or perhaps to other local contests, for example the games celebrated annually in honor of Brasidas, the Spartan general who liberated Amphipolis from Athens during the Peloponnesian War and was thereafter commemorated as the civic founder of Amphipolis.

647. —, silver tetradrachm (16.84 gm). Antioch, c. 208–200 B.C. Types as preceding, but with mature portrait, and on rev., tripod in outer l. field. WSM 1096. An attractive very fine (500.00)

648. —, silver drachm (3.01 gm). Nisibis, c. 204 B.C. or shortly after. Diad. hd. of Antiochus III r., with rahter mature features but no sign of receding hairline/Elephant r., ΒΑΣΙΛΕΩΣ above, ΑΝΤΙΟΧΟΥ in ex., M(?) to r. Houghton, MN 31, 72 (a1/p27), this coin. CSE 1188, same dies (attributed to Ecbatana). Rare and interesting. Very fine/fine plus (550.00)

The obverse die, the first drachm die of the elephant coinage of Nisibis, displays a portrait more youthful than the probable appearance of Antiochus III at this date. Subsequent drachm dies adopt the canonical elderly portrait, perhaps on instructions from the king himself.

649. —, silver tetradrachm (17.07 gm). Susa, shortly after 204 B.C.(?) Diad. hd. of Antiochus III r., with thinning hair and elderly features/Nude Apollo std. l. on omphalos, testing arrow and resting l. hand on grounded bow, ΒΑΣΙΛΕΩΣ on r., ΑΝΤΙ—ΟΧΟΥ on l., rose in outer l. field, monogram in outer r. field. CSE 1055, same dies. ESM 396. Ex NFA IV (1977), lot 354.
Superb portrait. Very fine plus (675.00)

Newell dated this issue c. 212–204 B.C., but all specimens known to him display a younger portrait than the present one. As with the Nisibis drachm above, it appears likely that the issue was begun in anticipation of the king's visit on his return from his eastern campaign, and that the portrait was corrected soon after his arrival.

650. Seleucus IV, 187–175 B.C., silver tetradrachm (17.05 gm). Antioch. JUDAEA

802. Ascalon, 62/1 B.C., silver tetradrachm (13.62 gm). Diad. hd. of Antiochus XIII(?) r./ΑΣΚ[ΑΛΩ]ΝΙ[ΤΩΝ ΙΕΡΑΣ Α]ΣΥΛΟΥ ΑΥΤΟ, eagle stg. l. on thunderbolt, palm over far shoulder, date LMA (year 41) above dove l. in l. field, monogram between eagle's legs. Cf. Spaer, Essays Mildenberg, p. 238, *M (year 43). Very rare and of considerable interest. Very fine (2000.00)

Spaer has demonstrated that the civic coinage of Ascalon was minted continuously from the city's grant of autonomy in 103 B.C. He has also argued that the portraits represent late Seleucid rather than Ptolemaic kings, most notably Antiochus VIII, who conferred the grant of autonomy. The present portrait could represent Antiochus XIII, only recently deposed by Pompey, or it could simply be a conventionalized portrait of Antiochus VIII, retained since the beginning of the civic coinage.

803. —, 48/7 B.C., silver tetradrachm (13.04 gm). Types similar to preceding, only portrait degenerate, shorter legend ΑΣΚ[ΑΛΩΝΙΤΩΝ—ΙΕΡΑ]Σ ΑΣΥΛΟΥ, HP monogram above dove, l. in l. field, and date LNC (year 56) in r. field. Cf. Spaer, Essays Mildenberg, p. 235, 50 (similar monogram, but year 6). Very rare. Fine plus (1200.00)

This tetradrachm is several years later than the most recent specimen published by Spaer (p. 238, *N, year 51, not illustrated). Spaer comments that only the publication of additional specimens will enable us to determine whether the portrait of the Ptolemaic ruler replaced the Seleucid portrait on the coinage of Ascalon, and if so, when. The present portrait, with its broken nose and protruding chin, bears some resemblance to the portrait of Ptolemy I as employed on the coinage of Ptolemy XII.

Svoronos, Sympleroma, p. 417, 903—, pl. 3, 8, same obv. die but different monogram. Ex Leu 30 (1982), lot 221.
Very rare and of considerable interest. Portrait in high relief. About very fine/fine plus (1500.00)

Svoronos attributed the portrait coinage of Ptolemy III with the bee symbol to Ephesus, but the commentary in the Leu catalogue reports that Mørkholm had suggested an attribution to Telmessus in Lycia. This portrait, with its typical Hellenistic emphasis on character, provides a telling contrast with the idealized, classicizing portraits that appear on the following lot and on the posthumous gold minted under Ptolemy IV (see lot 821).

820. —, Æ 21 mm (6.18 gm). Alexandria(?). Laur. bust of Ptolemy III r., wearing aegis/ ΠΤΟΛΕΜΑΙΟΥ—ΒΑΣΙΛΕΩΣ, eagle stg. l. on thunderbolt, cornucopiae in r. field. Svoronos 1000. SNG Copenhagen 193–195. Rare. Dark patina. Very fine plus (300.00)

The obverse type probably makes reference to Cicero's recent success in bringing about the downfall of L. Sergius Catilina in the Catiline Conspiracy.

1058. L. Marcius Philippus, 56 B.C., silver denarius (3.82 gm). Rome. Diad. hd. of Ancus Marcius r., lituus behind, ANCVS below/Equestrian statue r. on aqueduct, flower under horse's forelegs, PHILIPPVS around to l., A—Q—V—A—MAR (last three letters in monogram form) under arches of aqueduct. Cr. 425/1. Syd. 919. Bab. (Marcia) 28.
A little off center, but an obverse of exceptional quality. Toned, extremely fine (400.00)

The obverse depicts the fourth of Rome's seven kings, from whom the gens Marcia claimed descent. According to legend he constructed the Aqua Marcia, which was restored by Q. Marcius Rex, Pr. 144, another ancestor of the moneyer. The equestrian statue is presumably that of Q. Marcius Rex.

1059. Q. Cassius, 55 B.C., silver denarius (3.60 gm). Rome. Veiled hd. of Vesta r., VEST before, Q CASSIVS behind/Temple of Vesta within which curule chair, urn to l., tablet inscribed A/C to r. Cr. 428/1. Syd. 917. Bab. (Cassia) 9. Attractive. About extremely fine (400.00)

The types refer to the affair of the three unchaste Vestal Virgins, who were tried in 113 B.C. by the authority of L. Cassius Longinus Ravilla, an ancestor of the moneyer.

1060. P. Licinius M.f. Crassus, c. 55 B.C., silver denarius (3.72 gm). Rome. Diad. and laur. bust of Venus r., S C behind/Female figure stg. l. before horse which she leads by bridle, holding spear, cuirass and shield at feet. Cr. 430/1. Syd. 929. Bab. (Licinia) 18. Very fine (125.00)

This moneyer was the younger son of the Triumvir M. Licinius Crassus. He served with distinction under Caesar in Gaul, and played a decisive role in the victory over Ariovistus in 58 B.C. He perished during his father's disastrous Parthian war of 53 B.C.

1061. M. Junius Brutus, 54 B.C., silver denarius (3.85 gm). Rome. Hd. of Libertas r., LIBERTAS behind/L. Junius Brutus, Cos. 509, walking l. between two lictors and preceded by an accensus, BRVTVS in ex. Cr. 433/1. Syd. 906. Bab. (Junia) 31–32. Scarce. A nice very fine plus (500.00)

The moneyer is the future tyrannicide. His types express his consistent opposition to Pompey's quest for sole rule, and may have been provoked by rumors of a dictatorship for Pompey which began to circulate in 54 B.C. "Liberty" was the watchword of the anti-Pompeians in elections for 55 B.C. L. Junius Brutus, depicted on the reverse, was the founder of the Republic and the moneyer's most illustrious ancestor.

1062. —, silver denarius (3.87 gm). Rome. Hd. of L. Junius Brutus, Cos. 509, r., BRVTVS behind/Hd. of C. Servilius Ahala, Mag. Eq. 439, r., AHALA behind. Cr. 433/2. Syd. 907. Bab. (Junia) 30. Very fine (425.00)

The moneyer's mother was a Servilia, and he was adopted by her brother(?) Q. Servilius Caepio, so that he could bear both the Julian and Servilian names. The types pay honor to ancestors in both lines. Ahala assassinated Sp. Maelius, a rich plebian who relieved a food shortage in 440–39 B.C. by distributing food at his own expense, arousing suspicion that he was plotting a tyranny. On L. Juniua Brutus and the political context of this family propaganda, see commentary on the preceding lot.

1063. C. Coelius Caldus, 51 B.C., silver denarius (3.88 gm). Rome. Hd. of C. Coelius Caldus, Cos. 94, r., standard inscribed HIS behind, before C COEL—CALDVS and standard in form of boar/Sacrificial table inscribed L CALDVS/VII VIR EPVL (with VIR and last two letters of EPVL in monogram form), on l. trophy with Macedonian symbols, on r. trophy with Gallic symbols, C CALDVS on l., I/MP/A/X on r. Cr. 437/2a. Syd. 894. Bab. (Coilia) 7. Scarce. Very fine plus (600.00)

Portrayed on the obverse is the moneyer's ancestor and namesake, with emblems of the Spanish and Gallic victories achieved while he served as governor of Hispania Citerior. Details of the reverse refer to further honors—the augurate, the decemvirate sacris faciundis, and his acclamation as imperator after his victory over the Salluvii. However the main reverse type symbolizes a different priesthood, held by L. Coelius Caldus, otherwise unknown.

1064. Cn. Nerius, 49 B.C., silver denarius (3.73 gm). Rome. Cr. 461/1. Syd. 1051. Bab. (Caecilia) 50. An unusually nice specimen of this scarce and interesting issue. Very fine plus (725.00)

This issue, like the following, belongs to the Pompeians who gathered in Africa after the death of their leader, only to be defeated by Caesar at Thapsus.

1072. M. Cato Uticensis, silver denarius (3.98 gm). Africa, 47–46 B.C. Bust of Roma r., ROMA behind, M CATO PRO PR before/Victory enthroned r., holding patera and palm branch, VICTRIX in ex. Cr. 462/1a. Syd. 1053. Bab. (Porcia) 10. Scarce. Very fine (350.00)

Cato was evidently reluctant to coin in his own name, and this, his sole issue, discreetly repeats the types of M. Cato, moneyer in 89 B.C. The theme is nevertheless a fitting anticipation of victory and vindication for the traditional Roman values which the Pompeians claimed to defend.

Scarpus, a relative of Julius Caesar, supported Mark Antony for many years and at the time of Actium was in command of four legions in Cyrenaica. Following Antony's defeat he pledged his loyalty to Octavian and issued coins similar to the above in the name of the victor.

1082. Octavian, silver denarius (3.98 gm). Military mint traveling with Octavian, 36 B.C. This quinarius is a hybrid, with issued in the name of Caracalla but bearing the titles of Septimius Severus on the reverse. The error is an easy one to understand, for the issue employed the same Victory type with the titles of Caracalla. The occasion for the striking of silver quinarii was a donative paid to the troops in celebration of Severus' quindecennalia or fifteenth anniversary in power, in conjunction with the quinquennalia or fifth anniversary of Caracalla.

VENICE

The following seven gold ducats are from a hoard of Venetian coins found on the fringes of the Aegean. Latest in the group are coins of Francesco Foscari who was Doge at the time of the fall of Constantinople in 1453. Undoubtedly, the hoard's deposit was connected with the unsettled conditions of the time. During the 14th and 15th centuries relations between Venice and Constantinople were close. Venetian trade in the area was on a large scale and brought great profits to the Italian maritime state, so it is scarcely suprising to find their gold ducats circulating in the Aegean.

The basic design of the Venetian gold ducat remains constant throughout the series: obverse the Doge kneeling, on right, receiving banner from St. Mark standing on left; reverse Christing standing within Mandorla.

Andrea Dandalo 1343–1354

1379. Gold ducat (3.53 gm). Friedberg 1221. Extremely fine (275.00)

The fourth and last member of his family to be Doge, Dandalo was also an historian, author of Chronicon Venetum. In 1351 he signed a treaty with John VI Cantacuzenus whereby the Venetians would give back, free of charge, the Byzantine crown jewels, pawned by John V eight years before, in return for Byzantine help in driving the Genoese out of Galata. The attempt failed and the Byzantines never recovered their imperial regalia.

Lorenzo Celsi 1361–1365

1380. Gold ducat (3.56 gm). Friedberg 1225. About extremely fine (250.00)

Lorenzo Celsi offered John V the Byzantine crown jewels and 20,000 ducats for the island of Tenedos, but was refused. In 1363 rebellion broke out in Crete.

Andrea Contarini 1368–1382

1381. Gold ducat (3.54 gm). Friedberg 1227. Extremely fine (275.00)

The Byzantine Emperor John V visited Venice in 1370 and now agreed to sell Tenedos to the Venetians for his crown jewels, six ships, and 25,000 ducats. However, his son Andronicus IV, acting as regent in Constantinople, refused to hand over the island. Without money, John V was detained in Venice as a debtor and had to be bailed out by his son Manuel. The Venetians took advantage of the usurpation of Andronicus IV to seize Tenedos.

Antonio Venier 1382–1400

1382. Gold ducat (3.51 gm). Friedberg 1229. Extremely fine (275.00)

The Ottoman Sultan Bajezid blockaded Constantinople in 1394. The Venetians assisted the Byzantines by supplying the city with grain, and they also kept a ship standing by to take Manuel II to Venice if Constantinople should fall.

Michele Steno 1400–1413

1383. Gold ducat (3.54 gm). Friedberg 1230. Extremely fine (275.00)

The Byzantine Emperor Manuel II was in Europe when Timur defeated the Ottoman Sultan Bajezid in 1402. He hastened back to Constantinople, traveling from Venice to the Morea in Venetian ships. Nevertheless, the Venetians were clever enough to hedge their bets, and eight years later Venetian ships were ferrying Turkish troops across the Hellespont.

Tomaso Mocenigo 1414–1423

1384. Gold ducat (3.53 gm). Friedberg 1231. Extremely fine (275.00)

In 1416 the Venetian navy destroyed the Ottoman fleet off Gallipoli, but despite this major setback by 1422 Sultan Murad II was besieging both Constantinople and Thessalonica.

Francesco Foscari 1423–1457

1385. Gold ducat (3.56 gm). Friedberg 1232. Extremely fine (275.00)

In 1423, since they were unable to hold the city against the Turks, the Byzantines ceded Thessalonica to the Venetians. It's defence and maintenance was costing them far more than any commercial advantage to be gained, and in 1430 it fell to the Turks and was sacked. In 1438 the Emperor John VIII visited Venice on his way to the Council of Florence, and on his return to Constantinople two years later the imperial party was transported in Venetian ships. As the Turks became increasingly powerful the Venetians opposed all schemes that might upset them, thus sealing the ultimate fate of the Byzantine capital. The most vivid account of the fall of Constantinople is to be found in the diary of a Venetian ship's surgeon, Nicolo Barbaro. During the siege the Venetian residents fought heroically while the Genoese, defended by their own walls at Galata, remained neutral.

SYLLOGE NUMMORUM GRAECORUM. This vast undertaking represents an attempt to publish all major public (and some private) collections of Greek coins. The format is consistent through all the volumes. All coins are illustrated on right hand plates, with descriptions on the facing page. These descriptions are complete with respect to technical data, such as weight, die axis, and provenance, but in some volumes they do not include dates or cross-references to other literature. The series also generally eschews such aids as maps, supplementary illustrations, tables, and interpretive essays. The format of the SNG's listed below are the traditional oversized format (15" x 12").
